Acceptance Week

May 5th-11th, 2024

Uniquely U

Connecting through what makes us different.

Through this virtual workshop, families and caregivers of youth with mental health challenges will be given the opportunity to explore and discuss ideas, strategies, and ways in which we can create authentic connections through the lens of acceptance and understanding of what makes our youth special and unique.

Collaborate with others to bring feelings of connection, hopefulness, and involvement.

Discover & discuss person first language, positive language formatting, and proper use of pronoun inclusive dialogue.

Build a reliable system of support to aid in the navigation of acceptance & understanding.

Identify ways to empower others through advocacy.

To reserve your spot, email info@fyidaho.com by May 1, 2024 or visit our Instagram for more information.

With Executive Director of FYIdaho,
Brenda Willson
[she/her]

As Executive Director of FYIdaho, Brenda brings over 25 years working with families and youth throughout Idaho. In addition to her work on behalf of changing the dialogue about mental health challenges, Brenda is a certified national trainer of Youth Mental Health First Aid and participates on a variety of boards and coalitions focusing on prevention and education of our youth.

And guest speaker,
